About Boldoot

Boldoot is the name of a family business started in 1789 specialized in serving the typical traditional Dutch treat called Poffertjes.

Poffertjes are mini pancakes, prepared according to an old family recipe that deserves a comeback. The poffertjes are traditionally prepared on an old-fashioned copper stove, baked on each side until golden and served with real butter and powdered sugar.

Poffertjes are abundant and varied; you can have them with the classic toppings or... with ice cream, fresh fruits and sauces. The only limitation is your imagination.

Our history

Back to 1789, when the Amsterdam pharmacist Jacobus Cornelis Boldoot started a pharmacy in Amsterdam. Boldoot was by far the largest manufacturer of eau de cologne. It became such a hit that everyone wanted to smell like it. The very first Boldoot store was opened in 1919 on the Kalverstraat. From all over the world people came to the shop to buy the goods.

That time Boldoot became the main eau de cologne supplier of five kingdoms: the Netherlands, Belgium, Spain, Portugal and Italy. Mr. Boldoot also wanted to add Napoleon to his client list and traveled back and forth to Paris. Unfortunately Napoleon never became a customer, but Mr. Boldoot's travels brought him in contact with many of the French markets and vendors, where he was introduced to a French treat called "poffertjes".

Nowadays the poffertjes have become a real Dutch specialty and they are still traditionally prepared on an old-fashioned copper stove, cooked on each side until golden and served with real butter and powdered sugar.
